L-W Freshmen To Begin School Next Thursday

Freshmen students will be requested to begin school at Lincoln-Way on Thursday morning, Aug. 31, with all students attending the following Friday morning, Sept. 1. Both sessions will be one-half day with dismissal at 11:30 a.m.

Labor Day has been designated as an official school holiday with Tuesday, Sept. 5, being the first full day of attendance. The early start for freshmen was initiated last year in order to spend additional time with them for guidance and counseling. Since the original "step up day" was eliminated the freshmen have not had the opportunity to become acquainted with the building and the school's policies.

During these first two half days student fees and book rentals can be paid. Book rental, laundry service, locker and activity fees amount to $15.00. Student insurance can also be obtained for an additional $2. This is entirely optional except for boys engaged in athletics.

All freshmen are reminded to secure the required health and dental examinations. These are required by law and should be filled upon entrance. Buses will operate on about the same schedules as last year. Conflicts and changes will be worked out after the first few days of operation and needs are determined. One new large bus has been purchased for the additional Manhattan and New Lenox students. Two "after school" buses will be placed in to service but no additional bus mileage is anticipated since fewer trips and buses will be necessary at 3:30.

Last fall the Lincoln-Way Citizens Committees spent considerably time in carefully studying this transportation problem. The members strongly recommended better service for the parents and students and at the same time eliminating all unnecessary travel.

Previously approximately 150 students on the average remained after school for extra curricular activities, extra library and independent study or for makeup work. By sending these students home on the regular buses rather than on special buses only minor additional expenses would be involved.

Sept. 7 Tentative Date For Rutledge Bond Sale

With the bond issue approved for the new addition and renovation of Ann Rutledge school the board of education of that district is proceeding with plans to get the project started.

It is the hope of the board that bids can be let in October and work begun in early November so the new plant will be completed at the start of the 1962-63 school year.

The voters of District 56-C gave approval to a $69,000 bond issue last Saturday with which to carry out the building and remodeling.

A total of 155 votes were cast in Saturday's election and the people—who have a long record of supporting programs for improvement of schools and education—gave the proposal a margin of 18 votes. There were 85 votes for the issue and 67 against it. The school served as the only polling place and was open for the voting from 12 noon to 7 p.m.

The school board met Monday night and after the vote election returns were canvassed and the bond issue declared approved the members began a discussion of the building program.

Tentative plans call for sale of the bonds Sept. 7. The architect is expected to have working drawings completed by Sept. 26 so they may be taken out by contractors. It is the board's hope that bids can be opened three weeks after that and a contract awarded so work can be started early in November.

The addition will have to be constructed first so pupils will have someplace to attend classes when the remodeling phase gets underway, it was pointed out.

This will be confusing and distracting, it was admitted, but there is no other course open, a spokesman added, as there is no other school to which the pupils could be transferred while the work is in progress.

The plans also call for expansion of the school's sanitation facilities now described as "woefully inadequate."

Frankfort Sauerkraut Day To Attract Many Visitors

Kansas street in Frankfort is taking on a carnival air as business and professional men of the village are putting in final efforts in preparing for the Sauerkraut Day Jamboree this Saturday, Aug. 26. The affair is expected to draw hundreds of visitors.

Sauerkraut Day is to be a fun day and the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event, are inviting not only the Frankfort townspeople but those of neighboring communities to join in the festivities. The day will end with dancing on the parking lot of the Frankfort State bank on Nebraska st.

Beginning at noon there will be a sauerkraut and "frankfurter" dinner to be prepared and served by the women of St. Peter's church. A tent is to be set up in the vicinity of Kansas and Ash streets where the diners will be served. Tables will be provided in the area.

The Chamber of Commerce is paying the church group to prepare and serve the dinner that will be practically free to the diners. A nominal sum, a quarter has been suggested, will be collected.

The Swimming Pool Committee members also will have a food tent in operation where one may buy hamburgers and pop.

A German band -- members of the Bill Carnegie orchestra of Joliet -- will entertain the diners and the visitors during the afternoon. They are scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock.

There will be games on Ash street, all day and in the evening and during the day the Chamber of Commerce will operate "concession carts."

The Lions club will operate one of those concessions where a direct hit with a baseball will drop a man off his perch. The Lions will show their serious side, however, in a demonstration of dog leading his blind master. Dog and master are from Chicago and are graduates of the Leader Dog school at Rochester, Mich. The Lions club has been carrying on work among the blind since it was organized and is supporting the Leader Dog school.

There will be horseshoe games all afternoon under the auspices of the Frankfort fire department all afternoon. Courts will be set up in the space formerly used as an ice rink on Kansas street. The firemen also are in charge of two other events, a rope pulling contest at 4 o'clock and a water fight at 6:30. Those in charge are endeavoring to also arrange for a water fight to be staged by women.

A pet and Kiddie parade is part of the afternoon program. It will form on the school grounds at 1:30 and move off promptly at 2 o'clock, going north on Hickory street to Kansas and thence east to the reviewing stand just east of Oak Street. The stand will also serve as the center for announcements and the distribution of prizes. These prizes, the gifts of Frankfort merchants, will be awarded through the day. People may register for the prizes at the various stores.

The dance, which is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock, will be free.

The central committee in charge of arrangements is made up of Herbert Lambrecht, Edward Laufer, Mayor George Sangmeister and Burton Bredert. Committee heads are: Fred Kohlhausen, water fight; Robert Dean, parade; Robert Trump, publicity; Harland Eisenbrandt, decorations; Lynn Kohlhausen, parking; William Delph, program; and Glen Schrieder, dance. Ralph Show, C. of C. President, and Jim Geuther vice president, are general assistants.

The New Lenox grade school board at its meeting Monday night voted to join in the guidance program planned for Will county schools.

This is a state project and Will county has been selected as one of the pilot counties to try out the theories involved. Verne E. Cracker, county superintendent of schools, will direct the program. The state is to bear half the costs and the remainder will fall on the participating schools.

Persons known as guidance counsellors will be hired by the state to consult with school authorities on the problems presented by pupils as well as with the youngsters themselves in an effort to arrive at some conclusions as to why children can't do their school work or get along with other pupils or teachers.

On the grade school level tests will be given to ascertain mental and achievement ability. Aptitude tests and personality adjustments will be major factors in the program relating to high school students, it was said. What makes youngsters quit school is one thing which greatly interests educators. Also the program slated for Will county is limited to two years it could be extended if the results were worthwhile, it was said. The service also would offer advice and guidance when a student becomes employed after leaving high school.

It was expected that the Mokena and Frankfort school boards would also vote to join in the program, according to reports.

The New Lenox board also voted to cooperate with the adult education program for civil defense.

The board will have a sidewalk built at Oakview school, extending from Cedar road to the middle of the school grounds.

Anniversary Committee Now Issuing Own Coins

The Will county 125th anniversary celebration committee is issuing its own currency to be used the remainder of the celebration period. The coins are 50 cents in value and may be redeemed at any of the co-operating Will county banks, on or before Sept. 6.

The idea of the coins is to help publicize the Will county 125th anniversary celebration and to provide a novel and unusual souvenir of the 125th anniversary of Will county. The coins are being distributed to all merchants of Will county and the committee hopes everyone will accept and use the coins as the official coin of the county for the next three weeks.

The anniversary coin is about the same size as a U. S. half dollar and has the same value. The coins may be received in change and spent just like any 50 cent piece of U. S. currency. Each coin in circulation is backed by 50 cents in U. S. currency by the Will county 125th anniversary committee at the First National Bank of Joliet.

"These coins have been used successfully by other communities celebrating their anniversaries and Will county should have its commemorative coin also" commented Ed. Koehl, revenue division chairman for the anniversary committee. "We hope the Will county citizens will accept the coins as there are only a limited amount of the coins available for distribution, and it is hoped that many will be kept as souvenirs of the anniversary celebration."

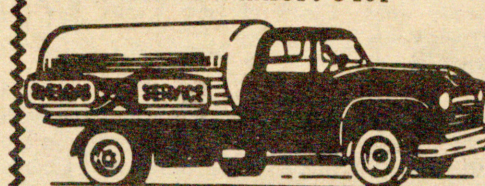

The coins are gold in color and bear the official seal of the anniversary on the front, and indicate that it is worth 50¢ in trade at any merchant in Will county and may be redeemed at any co-operating Will county bank on or before Sept. 6. After that time, they will become souvenirs of the celebration.

The souvenir coins will be available at all co-operating stores in the county and at celebration headquarters in the Rialto theater building in Joliet. Mail orders will be filled to collectors at 50¢ each. However the committee requests 10¢ extra for every 3 coins desired to help cover the cost of packaging and mailing.

ASC Explains Features Of 1962 Wheat Program

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announces thru the ASC main features of the 1962 wheat stabilization program including the conditional price support level, preparatory to the Aug. 24 referendum on wheat marketing quotas.

The minimum national average support price for 1962 crop wheat in the 39-State commercial producing area will be $2.00 per bushel, providing quotas are approved by producers. This price reflects 84.4 percent of the August 1961 wheat parity price of $2.37 per bushel. It compares with the 1961-crop support price of $1.79 per bushel.

"The nation's wheat producers' voting decision in the upcoming referendum will carry strong implications for the future of their industry for years ahead," Secretary Freeman said.

"I cannot urge too strongly that all eligible wheat producers acquaint themselves with the new program and then vote—whether they are for or against."

In general, the 1962 wheat stabilization program provides for reducing wheat acreages below the present national minimum allotment for 55 million acres.

Payments would be made to producers for reducing their acreage.

Provisions relating to marketing penalties on wheat production in excess of allotments would be strengthened.

Small farm exemptions from marketing quotas would be modified.

The new wheat program will be put into effect if two-thirds or more of the wheat producers voting in the Aug. 24 referendum approve marketing quotas for the 1962 crop.

Cooperators in the program who comply with their 1962 allotment would be eligible for price support at the higher level announced today.

Producers who participate in the 1962 wheat stabilization program would be able to market their 1962 production without penalty.

Producers exceeding their 1962 acreage allotments or permitted acreage would be required to satisfy a marketing penalty obligation before any of their wheat can be marketed. They would not be eligible for price support.

If marketing quotas are not approved, it was said, there would be no controls on marketings for the 1962 wheat crop if quotas are disapproved in the referendum and price support at only 50-percent-of-parity level as required by law would be available to those who stay within their 1962 acreage allotments. Fifty percent of the July parity price for wheat was $1.18 a bushel. The new program requires a mandatory reduction of 10 percent in acreage allotments established on the basis of the present 55-million-acre national allotment. The 10-percent reduction will be applied to all farm wheat allotments, regardless of size.

Provision is also made for up to an additional 30 percent voluntary reduction, with special provisions for small farms. Secretary Freeman said that if marketing quotas are approved, he will strongly urge farmers to make use of the opportunity for voluntary reduction in addition to staying within quotas.

Conservation payments would be made to producers for these acreage reductions.

Conservation payments per acre for the mandatory 10 percent wheat acreage diversion would be equal to 45 percent of the county support rate times the adjusted yield per acre for the farm.

The payment may be made in cash or in wheat at the option of the secretary. If payment is made in wheat, the wheat could be marketed without penalty, but would not be eligible for price support.

Producers can earn additional payments by reducing up to an additional 30 percent of the farm wheat allotment. Payments for the added voluntary reduction would be made at a higher rate of 60 percent of the county support rate times the adjusted yield per acre and times the diverted acreage. Payments would also be made in cash or in wheat.

For small farms, provisions permit a reduction of up to 10 acres in line with the farm's wheat history.

All acreage diverted under the program must be devoted to approved conservation uses.

For 1962, the exemption from marketing quotas for those who planted between 13.5 and 15 acres during any one of the three years 1959, 1960, or 1961, would be decreased to 13.5 acres. For those who have planted less than 13.5 acres during any one of these years, the exemption would be the highest planted acreage during any one of these three years.

Under this provision, a producer who did not plant wheat in any one of these years would be subject to marketing penalties if he exceeded his allotment. Previously, plantings of 15 acres or less were exempt from marketing quotas.

On farms on which there is wheat acreage in excess of the 1962 allotment, except for the small farm exemption, the amount of wheat subject to marketing quota penalties would be assessed on double the normal yield of the excess acres. However, if the producer could establish that his actual yield was less than this, the county ASC committee could reduce the amount of the excess to the actual yield on the excess acres.

Previously, the penalty was based on the normal yield with provision for a reduction if the actual yield was less.

The program would increase the penalty rate per bushel on the farm marketing excess to 65 percent of parity. Previously, it was 45 percent of parity.

Don't Let Death Take Over Holiday

This may be a bit early to remind you to use care in using your car over the Labor Day weekend but if you are one of those people who have one of those long weekends you are likely to be taking off on Friday and the only thing you may read the night before will be a road map. Therefore, if we are to give you any message it will have to be this week.

Now hear this, and we hope it comes thru loud and clear!

DRIVE CAREFULLY!

Those who stuff traffic mishaps expect several hundred motorists to die between 6 p.m. Friday evening Sept. 1, and 6 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 5. Besides the fatalities the number of injured will run into the thousands, and that figure will not include injuries of minor nature.

Many--too many-- persons will suffer permanent injuries that may shorten their lives in years but lengthen them in pain.

In rare instances blame for an accident may be placed upon a mechanical failure in the car itself but the vast majority of accidents are traceable to the drivers--they were going too fast, were too tired, too sleepy, gave way to temper, displayed bad manners, lacked common-sense or judgment, to name a few of the prime causes of traffic accidents.

It is a good plan to allow oneself plenty of time to reach his destination, either outward-bound or returning home.

Persons who plan trips to resorts or picnics where boating, swimming and fishing are a part of the activities are urged to take it easy.

Drownings always account for the loss of many lives on the Labor Day weekends. There is a difference in driving a boat and driving a car and some people never learn what it is because they are drowned before they can find out.

A long holiday, like the one coming up Labor Day, can be pleasant and relaxing. It can provide one with many happy memories--if one endeavors to keep safety uppermost in his mind.

Remember too that gasoline and drinking are a poor combination. Indulging in alcoholic beverages is, of course, a personal matter so long as the indulgence does not create a hazard for others.

There is a cardinal rule for motorists -- if you drive don't drink and if you drink don't drive. The same is also a good rule for power boat drivers to follow.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

When Jefferson P. Throttlebottom rubbed his chin there was a dry, rustling sound. It would have been odd had there been no sound at all because Jeff was wearing a beard that gave him the appearance of the lead in a No. 5 road company of "Lincoln in Illinois."

J.P. has won considerable fame for his exploits as a free-loader and I wondered -- out loud -- if the outcrop of facial foliage was intended as a disguise for repeat performances or if he had succumbed to the call of the county's 125th anniversary committee for brush growing males.

Neither, he replied, deftly flipping the lid of my box of cigars and pocketing a handful without a miss or a fumble, nor was he, he added, seeking a part as the unidentified companion of Henry Clay or Daniel Webster in the Old Crow ads.

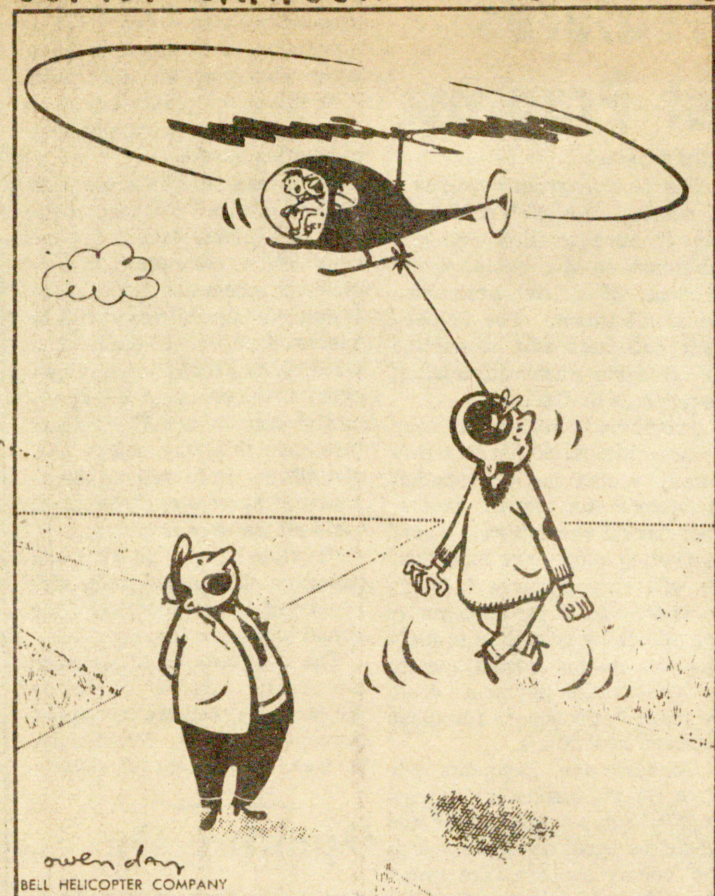

"I admit, however, that I have a project in mind," he went on, "that might be rewarding in a precut sense. There are quite a number of beards running around these days, thanks to this county anniversary, and if I can enroll some of these chaps sporting phiz fungus in my program it is possible that I can come up with some answers to the shaving problem."

"The ad agencies are locked in a grim battle that is being fought in newspapers, magazines, radio and TV. Should one use the blade or an electric shaver? That is the question."

"When demonstrated they both look easy. One used to see a personably young man in the ads shearing the fuzz from a peach with an electric shaver. Then in the hands of a big burly chap back from a hunting or fishing trip with a heavy beard to know, the same shaver had it off in what appeared to be seconds."

"I never saw the blade boys shave a peach but they make short work of a lush crop of whiskers. Take the beard I have, oh, I don't mean literally, he broke off when he noticed my gesture. "I'm talking about shaving it off, maybe it won't take me half an hour but neither will I be able to do it in the minute in which it apparently is done on TV.

COPTER CARTOON by owen day

"Are you sure you don't want to go to the dentist, Quincy?"

"On the other hand if you remember that it costs around $5,000 for a minute (40 seconds) spot on a national hook-up you can see why a man has to shave in a hurry. Snick-snack, two swipes and the job is done."

"Ballplayers are even faster on the shave than the cartoon characters. One is given a front view of the player, his face covered thick with lather so one doesn't know whether his whiskers have been cut off previously or are really sprouted. He appears to be standing by a wash bowl in the club locker room, a tired but dead game sport who has given his all on the halffield and now is about to do the same for a safety razor manufacturer, at so much per all. He admits to the interviewer that he is somewhat fatigued -- it's hot out there in that sun -- but after he finishes his shave he will be fit as a fiddle. The magic smoothness of the blade will relieve him of all aches, pains and tiredness, and he and the little woman plan to spend the evening dancing."

"With that he turns to face the mirror, takes a couple of short strokes, one on each cheek, faces the viewer again to further extol the blade, or the razor or even put in a good word for that particular lather. Then he turns back to the mirror again and a sudden change takes place. Except for a wispy two of lather here and there his face is quite whiskerless. On two quick, short strokes this is quite a trick indeed."

"If any ballplayers use electric shavers the fact is a deep secret. I have sometimes wondered if when the big names in baseball sign their contracts there is not a clause which requires them to use blades when shaving in public."

"On the other hand, it has been my observation that the hunting and fishing crowd appears to be tied up by the electric shaver people."

"With this brush I have acquired I can now try out the various blades and the various shavers. I can mow a patch with a shaver, take another segment with a blade, try another kind of blade on another lot, a different shaver on still another, and so on. Then if I can enlist some of brush contingent of the county anniversary to try out the various kinds of whisker cutters I should have sufficient data on hand to arrive at some definite conclusions, which might or might not interest the razor and shaver manufacturers."

"Personally," Jeff said, "I would be happy to find some way to eliminate shaving and I don't mean thru growing a beard. Taking care of a beard is just as much trouble as shaving."

"I realize that in discussing shaving tools I have not mentioned the old social arbiter, the straight-edge razor which probably followed the clam shell shaver of ancient times. Using a straight-edge -- for shaving purposes -- requires a steady hand and some dexterity. Such a tool can raise hob with the ears, nose or throat if handled carelessly."

"Keeping a straight razor sharp is a knack in itself and stopping and honing are skills that many men lack. I suppose that if I were to say few straight-edge razors are in use today when compared to other forms of whisker choppers I would get bitter protests from the makers as well as wielders of such instruments, along with some figures that might show the old time razor to be most popular, and then my face would be red."

"Incidentally," Jeff went on, "I wonder if the county anniversary celebration will bring out my brush mugs for display? Everyone, or so it seemed, used to have his own mug, bearing his name or initials, which was left at the barber shop. Usually the brush was left in the mug that contained the soap but for the man who had everything there was this mug that served as a separate container for the brush -- a brush mug."

"Beards are a rarity these days," Jeff wound up, "and while they may be troublesome to keep cultivated and trimmed there is this to be said about them -- they serve well as conversation pieces. Well, so long, son."

And he was gone. So, I might add, were my cigars.

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

It is interesting to watch comments of leading financial and foreign analysts as regards their opinions on business and world conditions.

The business recovery slowed down somewhat in June and July, but the current push in defense spending, is expected to give the recovery a considerable lift.

"At the moment," some of the leading analysts believe that there will not be a shooting war at least for a time, but the cold war will continue, with varying intensity. Russia is expected to exploit all opportunities at creating difficulties for this country. Like some individuals they are expected to push to the point of serious resistance and a little beyond. Dictatorships often cannot continue without constant turmoil.

We are starting to note less acceptance of claims and headlines and more careful analysis of the Russian economic powers. If Russia's productive capacity is one half ours, their costs, in commodities for end-use, are twice ours. This limits their capacity without further lowering of their standard of living. International comparisons are made in terms of commodities! Russian propaganda assumes, rightly, that it is most difficult for the average person to think in terms of commodities rather than monetary units.

Under uncontrolled conditions, gold reflects commodity values as it is tied itself closely to commodity values. When commodity prices drop, gold production increases and vice versa.

Inflation, if any in near terms is expected to be mild due to excess production capacity. However, the Federal Reserve Board is watching for signs of inflationary action of business.

Many analysts point out that contrary to the post-election market rise, the present market leaders are among the "good quality" stocks as chemicals, oils, paper, steel, machine tools, etc.

The Financial World commentator the glamour stocks to be carried higher if the government continues increased defense spending, but suggests investors continue to hold strong positions in better grade situations with a smaller portion in glamour stocks.

Forbes of August 15 in "market comment" expresses idea that these real "hot" issues won't have the vogue in November that they had in May.

The author of this market comment is well known in financial circles. As to investment selections, he expects good market behavior this fall for: Ford Motor, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Bendix, U.S. Steel, Schering, Kerr-McGee, Combustion Engineering, Burlington Industries, Sprague Electric, Korvette, American Machine & Foundry, Brunswick, Certain-Teed, Servel, and Standard Kollsman.

This commentator also states that the air lines may do very well over the near term as this is their period of highest earnings. He expresses opinion that investor can sell air line stocks in late summer and early fall and buy back cheaper during the slack winter months.

Speer & Staff Science and Electronics investment letter, lists Ionics, Inc. as a strong contender in the de-salinization of sea water. The company recently received an order for such an installation in Saudi Arabia. The purchaser is the American Oil Co. The company has de-salting plants located in 60 different areas of the world.

The Upper Room

Read Isaiah 52:3-10; Romans 10:13-17

How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace! (Isaiah 52:7.)

In all human beings there is a longing to meet something good; yes, a desire to become good. In spite of everything, a vestige of the image of God lies deep down in our minds and hearts, covered though they may be with dirt and uncleanness. Deep calls unto deep, and we reach up longingly toward Him toward God -- in whose image we are made.

How many times I have met this longing, sometimes seeing it become a flame at the right moment! I have recognized it in the modern atheist in the West, and I have seen it in people in the deep forests of the Congo. We become rich when we find

Hints For Homeowners

Some extra attention is necessary to keep your garden looking neat in late summer and fall. Some flowers, particularly zinnias and roses are very susceptible to mildew. Proper use of fungicides is the only way to prevent this disease. On zinnias dusting with sulfur is usually all that is required or both roses and zinnias can be sprayed with Karathane or Actidione PM, (mildew also attacks Merion bluegrass).

Use one of the materials at the first sign of mildew on the leaves. Repeat every seven to ten days, or more often if the weather is very damp.

Botrytis is another disease which can become troublesome in garden flowers. It usually attacks over-ripe flowers causing unsightly, gray, moldy growths.

This disease can be prevented by removing all old flowers and foliage from early-blooming flowers, and by dusting with zineb.

Roses should not be fertilized any more this year. Late feeding causes soft growth which does not properly harden for winter. As a result, winter damage is severe on plants so treated.

Prune summer blooming shrubs as soon as they finish blooming. The flowers on these shrubs were produced on wood grown this year. Pruning at this time will not reduce the number of blooms next year. Do not prune spring flowering shrubs now. These shrubs have already begun to produce the flower buds for next year. Pruning now will remove some of these flowers.

Do you know the average date of the first freeze in our area is Oct. 15. One year out of every four this freeze can be expected to occur by Oct. 1. One year out of every twenty the first freeze can be expected by Sept. 21. This information and more can be found in a bulletin about frosts and freezes available from the Extension Service Office, 6657 South St. Tinley Park.

Roy Bettenhausen, Orland Boys 4-H Club; Ed Koehne, Worthville; Duane Erickson, Orland Boys, and Ray Koehne, Worthville, were the top four plowmen in the 15th annual plowing contest held last week. Duane Erickson proved himself the best tractor operator by wending his way swiftly thru three pre-designed and difficult courses. Over 200 people spent part of the day at the plowing contest and tractor rodeo. Our thanks to Emil Doctor for the use of his yard for the food stand, Donald Yunker for the use of the plowing field, and Norman Strassenburg, Lester Yunker and Herbert Kohl for setting up the event. Thanks are also in order for the various business interests who donated prizes. I do hope that each contestant receiving an award has sent a thank-you note.

A brief visit to the Mommene gladioli festival revealed that we have a very capable gladioli producer in south suburbia. Gladiolas entered by Dr. Earl J. Hamilton of Flossmoor, walked off with the lion's share of the awards at the festival.

All producers of wheat are encouraged to vote in the wheat referendum to be held Aug. 24.

The voting will take place at the ASC office in Orland Park. Anyone who has produced 13 1/2 acres of wheat in one of the last three years is eligible to vote in the referendum. Producers will vote "yes" or "no" on marketing quotas for the 1962 crop. Quotas will go into effect if at least two-thirds of the producers vote "yes".

During the next few weeks the Extension Council and Extension staff will be making plans for the Extension educational program for the coming year. We will welcome your suggestions about events to incorporate in the program for the year ahead.

Grasshoppers are becoming quite a problem in the south Cook county area. If they are doing damage to soybeans and corn, use one and a half pounds of toxaphene or one-fourth pound of Dieldrin per acre. Let 40 days elapse between application of Dieldrin and harvest. Don't feed toxaphene treated forage to dairy cattle or animals being finished for slaughter. To control grasshoppers in hay, use one pound of Malathion per acre, then wait one week before harvesting. Tomato growers may control grasshoppers by applying one-half pound actual Aldrin per acre. Allow at least one day between last application and harvest.

Washington News Letter

BY CONG. N. M. MASON
NEEDED FEDERAL TAX REFORMS: When our total tax load takes nearly one-third of the national income, something should be done to spread that tax load equitably among the various segments of our economy. Today we require certain segments of our economy to carry a disproportionate share of the total tax load. Is it any wonder that the American taxpayer is more tax-conscious and more tax-complaining today than ever before in our history?

In fiscal 1960 the total tax load upon American taxpayers was roughly $120 billion. Federal taxes were $52 billion; state taxes, $20 billion; and local taxes, $18 billion.

Our federal tax load can be broken down into four different tax sources, namely: Individual income taxes, corporate income taxes, excise taxes, and miscellaneous taxes -- inheritance taxes, gift taxes, and tariffs.

I. Our individual income taxes range from 20% of the taxable income in the lowest bracket to 91% of the taxable income in the highest bracket. This means that the man in the lowest income bracket must work about 2 1/2 months each year for the government with only 9 1/2 months left for himself and his family; that the man in the top bracket must work about 11 months each year for the government, with only 1 month left to work for himself and his family.

The yearly tax take from this source -- individual income taxes -- is roughly $44 billion, or a little more than one-half of the total federal tax load.

II. Our federal corporation taxes range from 30% to 52% of corporation profits. This means that a corporation must make about $2 in profit for every dollar it can hand out to its stockholders. It means also that many corporations work a little more than six months each year for the federal government and a little less than six months each year for their stockholders.

Federal corporation taxes bring in a total yearly tax take of about $22 billion.

III. Our federal excise taxes are taxes levied upon the value of goods sold and upon certain services rendered.

Excise taxes bring in a tax take of roughly $10 billion, half of which comes from liquor and tobacco.

IV. Our federal inheritance taxes range up to 70% of the total value of the estate, while tariff rates average about 5% of the value of the goods imported. Receipts from these sources amount to about $6.7 billion per year.

In the light of our present heavy federal tax load and its sources, three tax reforms are badly needed to spread the tax load more equitably:

The first tax reform that should be made is to place a tax ceiling or limit upon all Federal income taxes, corporation taxes, and estate taxes. The second tax reform that should be made is the repeal of all present Federal excise taxes now on the books -- except upon liquor and tobacco -- and the substitution of a flat 5% manufacturers' excise tax, uniformly applied to all end products except food and medicine.

Claire Ryden, George Dath Jr. Recite Wedding Vows In Church Ceremony

Wedding promises were spoken by Miss Claire Jean Ryden and George E. Dath Jr. at 3 o'clock the afternoon of July 29 in St. John's United Church of Christ at Mokena.

The Rev. Theodore Wimmmer officiated at the double ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Ryden of 142 Ash street, New Lenox and the son of Mrs. Ruth Dath of 54 West Front Street, Mokena.

Guest soloist, Miss Bonnie Rydell, was accompanied at the organ by Miss Mary Lou Fletcher when she sang Perfect Love, and Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee.

Escorted by her father to an altar festooned with white bouquets, the bride wore a chapel length train taffeta gown with re-embroidered alencon lace bodice with touches of blue. The applied lace was repeated on the bell shaped skirt. Her three tiered silk illusion veil was attached to a pillbox headpiece made of small silk flowers. Her only jewelry, pearl earrings, was a gift of the groom. She carried a three tiered colonial bouquet of white snowdrift pompons and stephanotis.

Miss Helen Sluis, maid of honor, chose a powder blue silk organza gown with matching flower headband and carried a colonial bouquet of pale blue asters, and pink sweetheart roses.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Thomas Ricketts, Mrs. Edwin Martie and Miss Phyllis Madon were dressed identical to the maid of honor in dusty pink.

The duties of the best man were carried out by Thomas Ricketts, brother-in-law of the groom and ushers were Robert Olson, Paul Landahl and Paul Dath, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Ryden, the bride's mother, was attired in a mint green crystal Peaubeige lace applied gown with matching shoes and hat, while the groom's mother chose a beige lace sheath with matching accessories. Both mothers wore a corsage of red sweetheart roses.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Dath of Chicago and the bride's grandfather, E. J. Carlson of Waukesha, Wisc. were special guests at the reception held in the Hayloft room of Valley View Farm to which some 150 guests attended. Miss Margaret Ann Campbell was in charge of the guest book.

When the couple left on an undisclosed motor trip the new Mrs. Dath chose an almond green silk linen two piece dress. The young couple are now at home to their friends at 15704 LaVergne, Oak Forest.

Pre-nuptial showers were given by Mesdames; Frank Madon, Eugene McGovney, Glenn Donaldson, Thomas Ricketts, Edwin Martie and Miss Helen Sluis.

The late Charles Kettering said it best: "My interest is in the future because I am going to spend the rest of my life there".

Village Board Discusses Surface Water, Streets

Surface water and street repairs were discussed at some length by the Frankfort village board at its meeting Monday night.

The sanitary sewer system built by the village in the past year is not intended or supposed to carry off surface water but heavy rains that cover streets and fill ditches in the village runs into manholes thru the holes in the covers and it is believed that some homes have their roof water channeled into the sewer contrary to state and village law.

This water accumulates after heavy rains and is said to back into a home near the bank of Hickory creek in the northwest part of Connecticut Hills, beyond the sewage treatment plant. It is said that the bypass there is not deep enough. It is intended to deepen this bypass and it was believed this would remedy the situation.

Before work can be started on improvement of E. Bowen and Smith street some power line poles will have to be moved. The Public Service is ready to move them, a spokesman said, but is waiting on word from the village engineer as to where they should be placed.

Chief of Police Francis Simon told the board this his wife was seldom free to leave the house because of the police phone and radio there. She answers calls when he is out. He asked that she be given some monetary compensation for this work. No action was taken but Trustee Wayne DePorto suggested that a check be made of the village finances the first of the month and it be determined then if any funds would be available for such a purpose. The question was put over to the next meeting.

Because the first Monday in September is Labor Day the next regular meeting of the village board will be put over to the next night, Tuesday, Sept. 5.

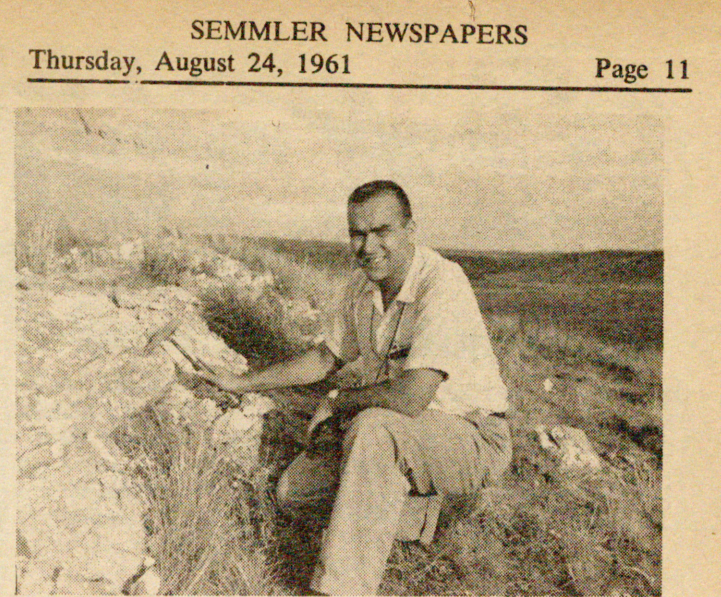

Dolton Sues To Uphold Zoning Ordinance

(CNS) The Village of Dolton filed suit against Michael H. Mielke and his wife, Grace Mielke in Superior Court Thursday for violation of the village zoning ordinance.

Mielke, who does business as Mielke Plumbing and Heating, owns property in which his wife holds an interest at 532 East 144 St., Dolton. The premises are located in an "R-3" one family dwelling district, prohibiting business use of property.

Mielke allegedly has been using the property for storing and parking business trucks, equipment, merchandise, and supplies; and the suit claims the subsequent noise, grinding, vibration, and fumes are dangerous to public health and safety, and cause discomfort and annoyance.

The village therefore asks an injunction against the defendants, and the costs of the suit.

Pick Joliet Emergency Wheat Bank

Joliet is one of the 191 metropolitan areas designated by the agriculture department for storage of emergency wheat in preparation for any possible nuclear attack.

Agriculture Secretary Freeman outlined the plan in a talk at Columbia, Mo.

He said the plan, subject to congressional approval, is to be included in civil defense proposals which President Kennedy is expected to submit to congress soon.

The plan would cost about 70 million dollars. It calls for storage of wheat in areas of 100,000 persons or more, assumed by Civil Defense officials to be possible target areas.

Other wheat storage areas proposed in Illinois are Champaign-Urbana, Chicago, Davenport-Rock Island-Moline, Decatur, Peoria, Rockford and Springfield.

Revenue Dept. Clears Up Tax Point--It Says Here

(CNS) Theodore J. Isaacs, Illinois Director of Revenue, announced Wednesday that receipts of money from rentals of the following equipment will be exempt from the Retailers' Occupation Tax: bowling, billiards and pool; golf balls, clubs and carts used at a golf course; pinball machines, shuffleboards and other play-it-yourself games; rides operated on the owner's premises; and lockers on the owner's premises.

The sale of these kinds of equipment to owners who will charge other for their use without relinquishing actual possession will continue to be taxable retail sales, Isaacs said.

This will be an important change in the original approach taken by the Illinois Department of Revenue to the question of levying the tax on rentals from tangible personal property beginning September 1, as required by recent legislation.

Revenue Department officials have doubted that it was the intent of the General Assembly to tax charges for bowling and other do-it-yourself games, but have felt compelled to hold that such charges would be taxable because they do not represent the furnishing of anything except the use of tangible personal property, said Isaacs.

After further study, the department now believes it can legally give effect to this legislation without taxing these charges, he continued. The department has taken this stand by holding that there has not actually been a transfer of possession of the equipment. It still is in the possession and under the control of its owner. The user merely has temporary custody and a license to use the property, but does not obtain legal possession, so there is no rental or lease in a legal sense.

Isaacs said that another important point which needs clarifying concerns the tax on rentals or leases of tangible personal property (not real estate).

Altho the lease may have been signed before September 1, 1961, rentals paid on or after that date will be taxable. The legislature did provide that if the lessor already has paid a use tax on the cost price of the property, he may take a credit for this tax against his Retailers' Occupation Tax liability on his rental receipts under the new legislation.

The Department of Revenue will consider as taxable the receipts of all rentals from tangible personal property beginning Sept. 1, Isaacs said.

BOWMEN vs PISTOLEERS

A return match between the bow and arrow versus the pistol is scheduled for 12 noon, Sunday Aug. 27, at Frankfort Sportsmen club, located on the Mokena black-top road which connects with 183rd st, east of the Tinley Bowling lanes.

The Tinley Park Archery club will match skill with the Sportsmen, who plan to exhibit their marksmanship with pistols. The former hope that this contest will result in the trophy being placed in a different environment for the next 365 days.

There will prevail the same shooting rules, and no handicap allowed. Each club will present five participants who were chosen previously. Each man will fire a total of twenty-five shots at a target thirty yards distance. All targets will be of the same size and markings.

A nominal admission charge will be made to the public. Ample parking facilities are available, and refreshments may be purchased on the premises.

All members of both teams are amateurs and in most instances are residents of south Cook County area and Will County. Both groups were organized four years ago.

Changes Meeting

The board of education of the Summit Hill district, No. 161, which was scheduled to meet tomorrow night, Aug. 25, has put the meeting over to Monday, Sept. 11.

New Lenox Ruths Finish In Tie For Second Place

The New Lenox Babe Ruths wound up in a second place tie in Tri-County League play this season.

The Lenox crew, managed by Ron Larsen, of the Lincoln-Way athletic staff, knocked Manhattan out of a chance for a share of the title, which was taken by the Joliet Nelsons, by blanking their neighbors 3 to 0.

Then in the final game of the season the New Lenox crew lost to the Nelsons, 5 to 3.

In the game against Manhattan John Lord started on the mound and was relieved after one and one-third innings by Wayne Fuchs. The latter struck out the next two batters with six pitches and was never in trouble until the seventh when he gave up two singles. This stretched the innings of scoreless games thrown by New Lenox pitchers to 19. New Lenox was held to four hits but they made them count.

In the game with the Nelsons the damage all came in the first inning. John Davis started but his control was off. Fuchs succeeded him and he too had some rough moments before getting the side out. In this inning Joliet made five runs on five walks, two errors and one hit. Joliet didn't threaten after that, Chuck Anderson, pitcher for the Nelsons proved plenty tough. New Lenox scored one run in the second and two in the seventh but Anderson bore down and halted the uprising.

9-Year-Old Girl Leads Whiffle Ball Hitters

The Whiffle Ball program run off in conjunction with the summer recreation program at New Lenox brought to light that a 9-year-old girl, Marlyss Runestad, is not only as good a player as the boys but a better one than most, according to Ron Larsen, Lincoln-Way high coaching staff member, who was in charge of the recreation project.

There were two Whiffle Ball leagues this summer — slow pitching and fast pitching. In slow pitching there are four players on a team, all roving fielders. Pitcher and catcher serve both sides. In fast pitching each team has a pitcher and catcher and three fielders. The ball used is of plastic. The bats may be a broomstick, a plastic club or a light softball bat if the wielder is hefty enough.

Slow pitching league membership is limited to youngsters 10 years old or less. The fast pitch crowd is older, up to 15. Girls may play in either league with no restrictions on age.

With this explanation of the game it is time now to reveal that Marlyss Runestad topped the slow pitch league in hitting. Using a broomstick for a bat she collected 51 hits out of 61 official times at bat for a batting average of .820. The next competitor had a .581 mark.

In the fast pitch league Marlyss ranked sixth with 21 hits out of 41 times at bat for a .463 average. Her brother Rod led the fast pitch loop in hitting with a .690 average. Marlyss, however, led the fast pitch contingent in pitching, winning five and losing none. She bats and throws left handed.

Rick Mangun and Tod Hollenberg were tied for second among the pitchers with three victories each and no defeats. Rod Runestad won six and lost one and Ray Rowsell had a record

Girls with 7 and 5 finished first; the Tigers fourth, 5 and 4; the Dodgers fifth, 4 and 8; White Sox sixth, 2 and 10 and the Summer Girls, seventh, with 1 and 11.

In the slow pitch league the Giants won the championship with 15 wins and no losses. The speed of Robert Hamilton in covering ground in his fielding and his throwing was said to be the major factor in the Giants finishing in first place. The other five teams finished as follows:

6 Tigers, 11 and 4; Red Sox 8 and 7; Dodgers, 7 and 8; White Sox, 3 and 12, and on the bottom, the Cubs, 1 and 14. It was the second year in a row that the Giants finished first.

The championship in the fast pitch circuit was won by the Yankees. The Yanks and the Twins finished the season with 11 wins and one defeat each. In the play-off the Yankees beat the Twins 3 to 1. The

GOP Group To Aid In Voter Registration

The Young Republican organization of Worth township is going to assist the regular republican organization local precinct captains in re-registering voters in the entire township.

State Senator Frank Ozinga and Township Committeeman Lawrence Hupe have set up the following plan for the Young Republicans. There is a chairman and six area supervisors. Each has from 12 to 15 precincts under his jurisdiction. Two workers will be placed in each precinct. A large number of these workers will come from the Young Republican and regular Republican organizations. However, more help is needed as there are 96 precincts in Worth township, which will require a total of 192 workers.

Edwin Day, treasurer of the Young Republicans, was named chairman of the committee. He will welcome anyone who would like to assist in this worthwhile campaign. He may be contacted at 10809 Mayfield, Chicago Ridge, Illinois or GA 4-3435.

Re-registration dates are Sept. 15 and Oct. 13 from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. The Young Republicans will start to canvass the weeks immediately previous to these dates.
